

SIMON ANDREICHUCK

M.Math
Quantitative Research Intern

simon.andreichuck@bodhiresearchgroup.com

Simon Andreichuk is currently enrolled in the Master of Science in Financial Mathematics at the University of Chicago. Simon graduated from Boston University with a Bachelor's degree in Mathematics and Computer Science.

Simon has a longtime interest in the application of mathematical and computational tools to financial services industry. During his undergraduate degree, he gained proficiency in higher level math, coding and data analysis. Simon enrolled in graduate-level courses such as machine learning, econophysics and option pricing where he scored among Top 10 for final project in his machine learning course. During econophysics, he analyzed the effects from FIFA World Cup on stock market returns to build a trading strategy. In 2019, Simon interned as a data scientist at Shopmelon, a start-up based in San Francisco, where he put his coding skills in practice while bringing new insights into marketing strategies for Eastern European market.

Besides quantitative skills, Simon possess strong organizational, leadership and teamwork abilities developed during internships, academics, and extracurricular activities. Simon is also passionate about soccer, particularly Italian Serie A and Champions League. He is a long time fan of AC Milan and can be often found playing at the nearest field on the weekends.
