

GRACE CHEN

Intern

grace.chen@bodhiresearchgroup.com

Grace Chen is an aspiring sophomore currently pursuing her academic endeavors at the University of Toronto under Rotman Commerce. With determination to succeed in her studies, she plans to specialize in Finance and Economics, leveraging her acumen and intellectual skills to investment and strategic management in her forthcoming junior year. Looking ahead, Grace is eager to make contributions to the Bodhi Research Group by bringing forth innovative ideas and a positive mindset that are sure to propel the organization to new heights of success and achievement.

With prior expertise in collaborating with Hangzhou Road and Bridge Group Co, an engineering enterprise located in Hangzhou, China, Grace Chen has exhibited exceptional skills in effectively communicating and collaborating with professionals of diverse backgrounds and ethnicities. Through her in-depth involvement in various collaborative projects and trade shows, Grace has honed her intercultural communication, organization and time management skills to a great extent.

As Grace embarks on the next phase of her career at Bodhi Research Group, she looks forward to utilizing her expertise to collaborate with others and contribute innovative ideas that will drive the organization's growth and success. With her exceptional talent and unwavering commitment, Grace is committed to make an impact on the world of finance and beyond.
